Notes

In 2020, due to the COVID-19 pandemic and shift to remote learning, the College Board changed the format of all AP exams to: online only, portfolio-based or 45-minutes long, open book, free response questions only. The exams could be taken on any device from home or other non-school locations. Unused and cancelled test fees were waived, and NYCDOE paid for the exam cost for all NYC public school students.

In 2021, the College Board offered multiple testing windows for AP exams, with both traditional pencil and paper and digital-only options for most exams, which allowed students to test at home or at school. AP exams returned to their customary duration. NYCDOE paid the exam cost only for students who were eligible for a fee-reduction (e.g., students eligible for free/reduced-price lunch).
